SAN FRANCISCO GOSSIP.

Lots of Carsonites Meandering About San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1, 1892. EDITOR OF MORNING APPEAL—At this season of the year, which is not your pleasantest, the woods and brambles of this metropolis are full and running over with Nevada people—particularly Carson folks. At the Palace Hotel, (which Nevadans regard as personal property) they are to be seen every evening just as regular as the attaches. The familiar faces of Judge Hawley and Ernest, Judge Healy, Black Wallace, Jim Yerington and many others in the magnificent billiard room, make it seem almost like the Arlington.

Then Will Wright and Will Weiss are both employed in a butcher shop way out on Market street and Curtis Wright is with a tea house on Market.

On the street I meet almost daily with acquaintances from the sage brush. Members of the Ross family who sold their ranch to the Indian School Commission, promenade on propitious occasions. Mr. Raetz, who with some others (or other) made himself enviably famous in the minstrel business is wearing out some of the cement walks here. Frank Cheffins dines regularly at Wilson's. Dan Brady, the pugacious, is around hunting for a scap, and hoping he won't find it. Young Fred White is studying dentistry and has assumed quite a swell appearance. Someboys may remember Fred Kennedy, (alias Monkey Kennedy)—he is with Cladborough, Golcher & Co. Colonel Ellis and his family are enumerated with Frisco's population. He has started a good practice. The younger boys are studying and Adrian is contemplating removal to Salt Lake City.

Among the later arrivals I saw Jim Gardner and Frank Rivers, who were looking for a pot of carmine paint, and a whitewash brush or a hose to a ply it with, when I met them at the Palace. They probably found them as such things are kept ready for the needy. Mr. Hunt, of the Fish Commission, spent a day or so down here and took in the Texas Steer and some Louvre beer.

General Marlette is stopping at the Russ, on his way to lower California. He has not been well here and says he will be glad to clear out for the warm clime.

I have seen Misses Bid and Belle Klein, who are residing with their mother, and get a glimpse now and then of Maud Gillson who lived in Carson so long ago. One day over in Oakland I happened on Ike Tobriner and shortly afterward met the rest of the family. They have a nice little home and seem very contented.

Numbers come and go that cannot be accounted for, because I don't see them, and I feel sure that some are omitted now that have crossed my trail but I am hot on the scent and I shall tell you about the various ones who wander in out of the cold, from time to time. Yours, M.

THE HAMILTON CASE.

A New Trial Refused—He Gets $15,000 Damages.

Yesterday afternoon the case of Asa Hamilton vs S. P. R. R. was argued on a motion for a new trial. On the former case the plaintiff was awarded $44,750 damages for being forcibly ejected from the train at Winnemucca. The court in its instructions to the jury held that the ticket was not bound to be honored by the company but the jury should award damages if it considered excessive force had been used. The defendants demanded a new trial mainly on the ground of excessive damages.

Judge Hawley yesterday denied the motion for a new trial and reduced the damages awarded plaintiff to $15,000. The litigants are given ten days to decide whether or not they will accept these terms, or appeal to a higher court.

PERSONAL.

is rapidly getting over his monthly drunk.

Judge McMillan, attorney for Asa Hamilton departed last night.

Charles Mack District Attorney of Storey Co. was in town yesterday.

Mrs. T. H. Stone has decided to have the remains of her husband taken to Stockton for interment.

Willie Circe is getting his trotting dog into fix to waltz the Canadian setter. The race will probably take place in San Francisco.

ABOUT TIME TO ACT.

We think it is about time for the chairman of the State Silver Committee to call a meeting so that all friends of the white metal can assemble and exchange views as to the best method of impressing our eastern brethren of all the different political doctrines that Nevada means business in regard to the silver question and will only support candidates in the coming election that are publicly known to be friendly toward it. The only "real issue" at the present time between the Democratic and Republican parties is the scramble for office and spoils—with the possible exception that the former are a trifle more fond of their "bitters" than the latter—therefore let us one and all, irrespective of our political faith stand shoulder to shoulder and work together in our common cause and never give up till victory is gained.

We do not believe that either of the two great parties are in favor of free coinage, but enough in each if branded together will constitute a power that cannot fail of receiving recognition and if "firmness and no quarter" be the watchword, the point demanded will soon be gained.—Silver State.
